Homebrew Club	Yes	Yes	Ann Arbor Brewing Guild	Ann Arbor, MI			Takumi Sato East Lansing, MI 48823 taku_74@yahoo.com	I belonged to a club in another state prior to moving to MI where the partnership between a restaurant with a liquor license and homebrew club was mutually beneficial. The restaurant was able to offer food for purchase and the club gained a space where members could meet, sample, and learn about making better homebrewed beer. I specifically say restaurant because that does expand the opportunity to support beer friendly businesses. I also think the spirit of homebrewing is often misunderstood outside of the community of brewers. Homebrewing is NOT about a cheap way to get intoxicated but rather people having a social gathering around a hobby that fosters creativity and camaraderie as the collective seeks to make good beer. It is far more economical for anyone wishing to just get inebriated to go and buy cheap mass produced beer at the store. The homebrew community is made up of beer enthusiasts from all walks of life and all are generally responsible individuals. Even the young twentysomethings right out of college that take up homebrewing are interested in good beer.

Microbrewery, winery, homebrew supply store	Microbrewery, winery, homebrew supply store	Unsure	They just recently formed and are voting on a new name now.	Southfield, MI		Stanton Thornbury President Malty Dog Brewery	Every homebrew club likes to meet at local breweries. They get tours, they get insight from the brewers. They all buy beer and food at the local brewery. They also like to share recipes. The only way they can do that is to do it illegally where they meet, and putting the brewery at risk. The only affected party of this law is the brewery owner who stands to lose business or currently, their license. What does the state LCC care if people bring beer in here. Because they can't tax it? Give small business a break.

Michigan's reputation as a great beer state is largely due to progressive thinking when it comes to beer laws and this has had a overwhelmingly positive effect to the state economy particularly towards small business owners. Thanks for supporting this bill!

The brewers bring a small amount of beer for the purpose of evaluation. They tend to stay, and purchase products from the host. The ties between the homebrewing community and the professional community will be further strengthened by the ability to showcase our creativity and passion for the hobby.

The Craft beer industry, a thriving industry in Michigan, is fueled by homebrewers who go on to start their own brewpubs and microbreweries, as well as enlarge the circle of local buying/local producing consumers involved in the hobby and industry. This bill would help to allow the hobby to thrive by providing more ease of operation and legal protection.

Homebrew meetings are not a night on the town, but rather an educational resource for people wishing to explore the technology, biochemistry and ingenuity of brewing on a homebrew level. The more freedom clubs have to share knowledge of beer and brewing, the more appreciation and respect people will give to one of America's favorite beverages.

Homebrew Club	Yes	Yes	Bay De Noc Brewers	Escanaba, MI	Ed McBroom, Tom Casperson	Eric C Brannstrom, 723 Michigan Ave Gladstone Michigan	I belong to. I am an avid homebrewer living in Gladstone Michigan and belong to the local homebrewing club. As homebrewers we appreciate the assistance the local pubs and retailers go to in order for our club to be successful. We frequent their places of business and encourage others to be patrons as well. Allowing brew pubs to open their doors to our competitions furthers this relationship. Our competitions are nationally recognized by the American Homebrewers Association, well organized, and judged. We report our findings back to the AHA along with the winners of our competition. Although we drink beer at these events, the goal is not to become intoxicated nor is it to undermine the ability for the state to collect taxes. Our goal is to help each other become better brewers by pointing out both the strengths and faults of the beers and to give positive feedback on how to improve. Our secondary goal is to educate others on the different styles of beers available showing people the quality of beer not quantity. Through this education process we hope that the merchants in our area expand on the options available and begin to cater to a more educated palate. Thank you for your time
Homebrew Club	Yes	N/A	KLOB - Kalamazoo Libation Organization of Brewers	Kalamazoo, MI	Senator Tonya Schuitmaker and Rep. Sean McCann	Hilary Stearns 2660 Thayer Ave. Kalamazoo, MI 49004	Currently we are limited to tasting and providing feedback on each others homemade beers because we must do this in private residences. Feedback is critical to developing brewing skill. Most craft breweries were started by former home brewers. It is not realistic for my club to hold meetings at members homes.

The result is increased revenue and as such tax money for the state. Its nice to see a bill that grants the people rights and doesnt cost money. I think this would be a huge stride for the microbrew industry in michgan. If we can find and promote the talent, they are more likely to set up shop here in michigan.

Homebrew Club	Yes	Yes	KLOB - Kalamazoo Libation Organization of Brewers	Kalamazoo, MI	Margaret O'Brien, Tonya Schuitmaker	Steve Wurfel 1503 Schuring Rd Portage MI 49024 swurfel@gmail.com	Craft beer popularity has sparked a new consumer awareness of the pleasures of great beer. This awareness has sparked massive growth in the home brewing hobby as well as in membership of home brew clubs. Organizing meetings of these clubs and allowing the sampling of club members beers at private residences presents enormous liabilities to the property owner and is impractical for most clubs due to the number of members. Allowing this bill to pass will further the hobby and trickle down an economic boost to home brew supply stores and craft beer producers alike. I strongly urge passage of HB 4061.

There's really no legitimate concern with moving Michigan House Bill 4061 forward to ratification.

Homebrew Club	Yes	Yes	F.O.R.D. & AABG	Dearborn & Ann Arbor		Chris P. Frey, 275 South Ann Arbor St., Saline Mi. 48176	Homebrewers are as a whole a very responsible and dedicated to their passionate hobby. Virtually every microbrewery in Michigan got a significant portion of their training and experience through homebrewing, and seeks to stay connected with the passion and creativity of homebrewers. Many microbreweries have taken the risk of being hosts for homebrewing clubs, and this legislation could right the situation for our gracious hosts.
